PT. RAMLALJI SHARMA MEMORIAL AWARD

Hon'ble Mr. Justice Guru Prasanna Singh (3 January 1922-5 October 2013)

Pt. Ramlalji Sharma lovingly called Kakkaji, was a of principles, an epitome of selflessness and sacrifice. Born on 17th June 1910 in Dolaria near Hoshangabad. He did his Masters in Economics from Morris College, Nagpur and was a gold medalist. He also graduated in law and started practice in 1933. He was a man of great accomplishments. His persona was an easy blend of educational, religious, spiritual, social, cultural, economic and agricultural interests. He was not only an educationist and an eminent lawyer but a social worker too, a combination to be rarely found in a man.

His dedication to the field of education was exemplary. He was a man of vision. His idea was to build a college where academics are of unmatched standards, staff is highly qualified and students who not only channelize their energies towards education but also make efforts on being men of character. The Narmada Mahavidyalaya or NMV hence is renowned for discipline. The ascent of college from its humble state with limited number of classrooms and ever-growing number of students to the present state is still remembered by people who have had the privilege to be a part of such an educational system.

He was an eminent lawyer. His powerful oration and incredible intelligence gave him immense fame and credibility. He practiced law and appeared before the courts of Hoshangabad and Bhopal, along with these he appeared before the High-Courts of Gwalior, Jabalpur and Allahabad and The Supreme-Court. He established one of the largest libraries in the area which included All India Reporters and other journals. He was the jewel of the Hoshangabad Bar Association. Due to his intellect and incredible knowledge of the subject he earned a name for himself from district Courts to High court and The Supreme Court.

Pt. Ramlalji Sharma never sought donations, as the idea of begging was repugnant to him. He had a constructive mindset and epitomised an ever-active life. Being an eminent lawyer and an educationist he introduced the law faculty in Narmada Mahavidyalaya as early as 1950s. He also established around 15 educational institutions throughout the district of Hoshangabad, with the sole motive of imparting education to the unreached.

He introduced discipline of Arts in 1954, Commerce and Science in 1958 on the graduation level in the Narmada Mahavidyalaya. He introduced classes in English Literature and Economics in 1963, Hindi literature and Commerce in 1964, Mathematics and Botany in 1969 and in 1970 in Economics and Zoology on the Post graduation level

He was a progressive agriculturist and a profoundly religious man. An insight to his pursuit of religion stands in the form of Satsang Bhavan on the bank of River Narmada, a place where holy men would stay and the devout persons would assemble to listen to religious discourses. He had an immense faith in the Ramayana. Every year when the courts would be off in the summers he used to go on a pilgrimage to Badrinath and Kedarnath and used to spend at least a month in Haridwar.

He was an institution in himself. His life devoted to education and social work remains embedded in the minds of the people who had the honor to be associated with him. He had so much to offer to all of them and they had so much to learn from him. He was a legend and shall remain so for centuries to come.

THE NANI A. PALKHIWALA MEMORIAL AWARD

Mr. Nani A. Palkhivala (16.01.1920 to 11.12.2002)

Nani A. Palkhivala was born in 1920 in Bombay to blue collar, middle-class Parsi parents. His family name derives from the profession of his forefathers (a common practice among Parsis), who had been manufacturers of palanquins ("palkhis").

He was educated at Masters Tutorial High School, and later at St. Xavier's College, both in Bombay. He was a dedicated scholar and excelled even though he was hampered by a bad stammer. At college, he earned a master's degree in English literature. He overcame his speech impediment.

Upon graduating, Palkhivala applied for a position as lecturer at Bombay University, but was not awarded the post. Soon found himself trying to obtain admission to institutions of higher learning to further his academic career. It being late in the term, most courses were closed, and he enrolled at Government Law College, Bombay, where he discovered that he had a gift for unravelling the intricacies of jurisprudence.

Mr. Nani Palkhivala was called to the Bar in 1944 and served in the chambers of the legendary Sir Jamshedji Behramji Kanga in Bombay. He quickly gained a reputation as an eloquent and articulate Barrister, and was often the Center of attention in Court, where students of law and younger members of the Bar Association would flock to watch him. His excellent court craftsmanship and an extraordinary ability to recall barely known facts rendered him an irresistible force.

Mr. Nani Palkhivala initial forté was commercial and tax law. Together with Sir Jamshedji, he authored what was then and still is today an authoritative work: 'The Law and Practice of Income Tax.' Mr. Palkhivala was 30 years old at the time of the first printing. Sir Jamshedji later admitted that the credit for this work belonged exclusively to Mr. Nani.

Mr. Palkhivala first participation in a case of constitutional significance occurred in 1951, where he served as junior counsel in the case Nusserwanji Balsara vs. State of Bombay [(1951) Bom 210], assisting the esteemed Sir Noshirwan Engineer in challenging several provisions of the Bombay Prohibition Act. Before the year was out, Palkhivala was arguing cases himself, but his first case of constitutional importance (a challenge of the validity of land requisition acts) was lost before the Bombay High Court.

By 1954 however, barely 10 years after his admission to the Bar, Palkhivala was arguing before the Supreme Court. It was in this, his first, case before that court (concerning the interpretation of Article 29 (2) and Article 30 of the Indian Constitution, which regulate the rights of religious minorities) that he first articulated his (later) famous statements on the inviolate nature of the constitution.

Mr. Palkhivala received a great deal of recognition from academics, academic institutions and the government.

In 1963, Palkhivala was offered a seat on the Supreme Court, but declined. In 1968, he was offered the position of Attorney-General by Shri Govinda Menon, the then Law Minister in the Congress Government. Mr. Palkhivala recounts in his book 'We the Nation' "After a great deal of hesitation I agreed. When I was in Delhi I conveyed my acceptance to him, and he told me that the announcement would be made the next day. I was happy that the agonising hours of indecision were over. Sound sleep is one of the blessings I have always enjoyed. That night I went to bed and looked forward to my usual quota of deep slumber. But suddenly and inexplicably, I became wide awake at three o'clock in the morning with the clear conviction, floating like a hook through my consciousness, that my decision was erroneous and that I should reverse it before it was too late. Early in the morning I profusely apologised to the Law Minister for changing my mind. In the years immediately following, it was my privilege to argue on behalf of the citizen, under the same Congress Government and against the government, the major cases which have shaped and moulded [...] constitutional law[...]"[3]

Mr. Nani Palkhivala was appointed Indian Ambassador to the United States in 1977 by the Janata government (the first non-Congress Government in India) headed by Late Shri Morarji Desai and served in the capacity till 1979. He received honorary doctorates from Princeton University, Rutgers University, Lawrence University, —University of WisconsinMadison, Annamalai University, Ambedkar Law University and the University of Mumbai. The laudatio from Princeton called him "... Defender of constitutional liberties, champion of human rights ...", and stated, "he has courageously advanced his conviction that expediency in the name of progress, at the cost of freedom, is no progress at all, but retrogression. Lawyer, teacher, author, and economic developer, he brings to us as Ambassador of India intelligence, good humour, experience, and vision for international understanding...."

In the last years of his life, Mr. Nani Palkhivala was severely affected by what may have been Alzheimer's disease. According to Attorney-General Soli J. Sorabjee, who had known him for many years, "it was painful to see that a person so eloquent and articulate unable to speak or recognise persons except occasionally in a momentary flash."[4]

Mr. Nani was taken critically ill on December 7, 2002, and taken to Jaslok Hospital in Mumbai. He died on Wednesday, December 11, 2002. He was 82 years of age.

The Nani A. Palkhivala Memorial Trust, Mumbai, has instituted the Nani A. Palkhivala Gold Medal in the year 2006. This Medal is awarded every year to bonafide topper student of prestigious LL.M. Course of the National Law Institute University, Bhopal.
