NOTE FROM THE STUDENT ORGANIZER

In my understanding, the field of law is not restricted to mere theoretical studies. It involves a gigantic proportion of knowledge which is learnt and understood through practical experiences. Throughout the course of my law school, I have learnt that knowledge of law is not restricted within the four walls of classroom, and it is essential that a perfect balance is struck between theoretical study and practical learning for one to become better in the field of law.

This initiative of mine of “Jail Tour” could facilitate the learning of students to a large extent as, through the visit, students would get an opportunity to meet the Jail Superintendent and staff, to tour the building, to interact with the prisoners and learn about their lives and problems inside the jail, to see what life inside a jail looks like. Participating in a jail visit would be an invaluable experience for students who want to practice law, especially so for students who want to practice in our criminal justice system. This whole exercise would help them to understand the aftermath of a conviction and its gravity in terms of life during imprisonment. Even Justice FI Rebello and Justice KU Chandiwal of Bombay High Court had observed that law schools should provide students with an opportunity to visit jails and also motivate them to take initiative towards legal aid.

As a means of teaching students in a hands-on and exciting way, educational tours are invaluable. Something that can be seen in the actual world, rather than just memorised in the abstract, is more readily grasped. Reading books is not nearly as effective as experiencing a subject for yourself. We retain more information through hands-on experiences. Because of this, taking students on trips that are relevant to their studies might help them learn more effectively.

And therefore, I believe that it is really important for law students to visit a Prison and understand the workings because as potential lawyers, students need to fully understand the impact of our actions and the ramifications of our decisions. I am hopeful that the students of NLIU will keep continuing in bringing such initiatives into the fore.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

National Law Institute University, Bhopal, in collaboration with Central Jail, Bhopal, organized three days educational jail visit to the New Central Jail in Bhopal for the first, second, three and fourth law students on 27th, 29th and 30th April, 2022. Mr. Dinesh Nargave, Jail Superintendent, facilitated this educational 'Jail tour program', which was coordinated by NLIU's final year student Mr. Himanshu Dixit. The entire tour lasted for three days where a total 130 students participated in three different batches. The Faculty member appointed for the 1st, 2nd and 3rd days of the jail tour were Mr. Ranjan Kumar, Ms. Saubhagya Bhadkaria and Ms. Ridhima Dixit respectively. The students gained valuable experience and an understanding of how the prison operates. By guiding the students, the Prison Authorities assisted them in appreciating how everything works in a Prison.

During the visit every day, the students were taken to the Jail Dispensary where they got to understand the procedure followed by authorities when it comes to the medical treatment given to Prisoners. The students were next taken to the workshops and different small manufacturing industries set up within the jail premises, such as the Handloom industry (especially carpet and blanket weaving), Fabrication industry, offset printing press (which received orders from outside as well), and carpentry etc. operated by the Prison authorities, where Prisoners work as laborers, which are there for the proper reformation, economic support and rehabilitation of the Prisoners. The students also had a chance to see the paintings and sculptures made by the prisoners which were auctioned in several exhibitions as well.

The students were also escorted to the Jail Auditorium where the Anubhav Orchestra, consisting of prisoners put up a captivating performance of patriotic songs for students. The question-hour session between the law students and the prison authorities organized was in the third-day of the tour.

This visit was totally insightful as it made students aware about the jail administration and the conditions prevailing there. It also broke students' stereotypes that students had formed of the prison on the basis of Bollywood movies. It also exposed students to the humane side of the prisoners as opposed to their pre conceived notions of them.

OBSERVATIONS & THE OUTCOMES OF THE JAIL TOUR

Jail Tour- Day 1

On 27th April, 2022, the first year students of National Law Institute University, Bhopal led by Mr. Himanshu Dixit got the opportunity to visit the Bhopal Central Jail, along with the Faculty Mr. Ranjan Kumar. The first impression of the prison was satisfactory for the students. The place seemed to be well-managed, the details regarding prisons were put up on the Lock-up Board, Cameras were installed and students were completely surprised by the environment there. Students had a woeful image of prisons in their mind but this perception was slowly changing as they were observing the atmosphere there.

The premises of Central Jail are spread around 51 acres and it is divided into 2 Blocks. As previously mentioned, the atmosphere there was completely different from what students had imagined. Students thought that they would get to see a few vile faces behind the bars in dark cells, but they were completely shocked to see convicts walking with them. They also have a dress code which is strictly followed and it is different for different kinds of prisoners, for example Convicts have to wear white clothes and under trials are allowed to wear coloured clothes, there is one more category, those convicts who have been in the jail for more than 8 years have to wear black clothes. All of this is done to differentiate between prisoners based on the trust that the authorities have on them, which is determined by their behaviour in the prison.

Students visited several facilities inside the jail on that day. One of the officers was guiding students through the premises of the prison, answering the questions which students were asking and explaining everything to them. The different facilities students visited are:

The officer first guided students to the dispensary of the prison, which seemed to have been maintained properly. Jail dispensary is the first place where prisoners are taken when they come for the first time. They are taken to a laboratory which is well-equipped with various facilities and around 40 kinds of medical tests can be taken there. Proper records of these tests are maintained. One of the students asked an important question about the privacy of different test results since there are various tests like DNA test, HIV test, etc. whose results cannot be disclosed to others. The officer answered it satisfactorily and explained the way they managed these records and assured the student that they take proper care of the privacy of these records. Then Students visited the Dental Unit of the dispensary. Therein the students were told that a doctor from a nearby hospital visits the Unit daily and the dental health of prisoners is taken care of. Next, students visited the Minor Operation Theatre which is operational for minor and emergency matters. Then they were taken to the wards of the dispensary and were informed that there are a total of 12 such wards for accommodating as many patients as possible. The sanitation facilities of the wards were properly maintained. An interesting question was asked by one of the students regarding the accommodation of patients during the time of COVID-19 Outbreak. Students were surprised by the answer given by the officer, he told the students that there has not been a single death during the testing times and they were able to manage everything without much hassle by making separate wards for COVID patients.

After coming out of the dispensary, students were shown a separate section where they were not allowed to enter because it is only for heinous offenders and most of the prisoners there are terrorists. Although other heinous offenders are kept there but their behaviour is constantly noticed and observed, if it seems that they can be kept with other prisoners, then they are shifted with other prisoners.

Since, reformative treatment is given to the prisoners, they are allowed to work in various small facilities of Prison, which help them in deviating themselves from the thoughts which may arise in a person's mind while he/she is in a prison. In this process, they also get an opportunity to earn money which they may send to their families and use to pay their lawyers by themselves. Based on their experience, workers are divided into three kinds - Skilled labourers, Semi-skilled labourers and Unskilled labourers. They have different rates of payment as well, such as Skilled labourers are paid Rs 120/daily. This rate is different for the other two categories of workers. According to their skill-set and interest, they are allowed to work in different industries. Out of these industries, firstly students visited the Fabrication Industry where several prisoners were working. Students were informed that orders are taken and they also have outlets to sell their products. A student asked an interesting question about the working conditions and working hours of the labourers since it is important to know whether they are treated properly or not. Surprisingly, they are treated pretty well and the working hours are not rigid, they have to work around 10-11 hours a day and the working conditions are also appropriate. The visit to the Handloom industry was very interesting since students got to know that they receive a lot of orders and various items are made there. The cloth made there is sold at Rs 37/metre. The students were surprised to see the superb quality of the cloth. Then faculty-in-charge, Mr. Ranjan Kumar, explained the socio-economic reasons for the sale of the cloth. He went to explain how working in these industries helps the prisoners in reformation.

The most astonishing place to visit in the prison was the Art Gallery. Everyone was surprised after they saw the stunning paintings hanging in the gallery. It was very difficult to believe but as we entered the gallery, students saw several prisoners learning the art. There were several art works other than the paintings as well, such as thermocol art work, clay work, etc.

Students got to know that these artworks are taken out for exhibitions and many prisoners even participate in various competitions. These artworks are also made on orders that they receive. An interesting fact was that the Central Jail participates in the 26th January parade and they have constantly won there as well. It was confounding to know all these facts. The next place students visited was the printing industry, where a large number of things were getting printed. They receive orders mostly from government and governmental institutions but many organisations and people also place their order. Many things are printed there such as marriage cards, registers, notebooks, books, etc. A separate office is there for making this process of ordering easy.

It is really important to take care of the health of prisoners and to achieve it, the quality of food provided to them needs to be up to mark. The facilities in the Kitchen were properly maintained, the place was clean and proper care of hygiene was being taken. The weekly chart of mess food was hanging there. The number of chapatis a prisoner may have is also fixed i.e., 8 chapatis for a Convict and 6 for an Undertrial.

In the concluding part of the first day visit, the students were invited for few performances in the jail's auditorium. The visit to the auditorium was more of a fun visit rather than just being informative. It was told that the prisoners are given proper training of Music and musical instruments for their recreation. The authorities have also provided them with a music teacher who regularly comes and takes their classes. Apart from this many other cultural activities are organised on special occasions for the prisoners. They all sung it so beautifully that it was hard to believe that most of them learnt music only after they were sentenced.

Jail Tour- Day 2

On 29th April, 2022, the second year students of National Law Institute University led by Mr Himanshu Dixit got the opportunity to visit the Central Jail, Bhopal, along with the Faculty Ms. Saubhagya Bhadkaria. The visit was a very enriching and insightful experience for the students. The visit gave the students a unique chance to understand the working of prison administration and made the students familiar with the living conditions of the jail. The trip began at 12:30 PM with the departure of the bus from the NLIU Campus. The students reached the New Central Jail at 1.10 PM and were given instructions which they needed to follow.

After entering into the jail premises, the students were escorted to Block A of the jail. A police officer of the rank of Town Inspector ushered the students to various parts of the prison. The officer not only helped the students in knowing the minute details associated with the jail administration, but also diligently answered the question put forth by the students. The details of the chronological visit to the different section of the premises are as follows:-

- Medical Facilities

The officer guided the students to the hospital which is the place where prisoners are taken when they come for the first time. The hospital consists of Pathology Lab, Operation Theater, Medicine Dispensaries, General Ward and other essential wards. The dispensary located in the prison consisted of 150 beds. The prisoners are first taken to the Pathology Lab for the medical tests. The medical tests include DNA test, RNA test, ECG etc. A complete repository of these tests is maintained by prisoner authorities. The hospital has two MBBS doctors on the duty. On being asked by one of the students about the mechanism for the treatment of serious medical cases, the officer answered that the aggravated medical cases are referred to City hospitals with whom they have a tie up. These hospitals include Chirayu and Hamidiya hospital.

- Reformative and Rehabilitative steps

As a part of reformative steps, the inmates are given the opportunities to work in the area of their interest and expertise. Such activities not only keep the inmates engaged but also act as source of income for them. On being asked by one of the students about their wages, the officer told that the unskilled workers get 72 rupees a day while the wage rate for skilled worker is Rs 120 per day. The authority to decide skilled and unskilled workers is the jail administration and the supervisor of the concerned industry. The students on interacting with the inmates gathered that they timely get their wages in their bank account. The industries include Mechanical industry, Textile industry, Printing Press, arts and gallery.

- Mechanical Industry – The inmates were engaged in the work of making and repairing coolers. The students were stunned to see their knowledge and expertise.
- Handloom Industry - On visiting the handloom section the students found the inmates engaging in handloom works. The officers informed us that the orders for various handloom products like cotton dhoti and saree are placed and they also have outlets to sell their products. On interacting with one of the prisoners the students surprisingly got to know that the clothes worn by them were also made by themselves.
- Furniture Industry- The inmates were also engaged in making furniture and woodwork. They were seen making different furniture like tables and chairs.
- Printing Press – There was also a printing press in the prison where the inmates were involved in printing and publishing of different material. On being asked by a student about the usage of the printed materials, the Prison officer responded by saying that these material are sent to different government departments and institutions including Raj Bhavan, Vallabh Bhavan, etc.
- Painting Gallery – The most highlighting place to visit in the prison was the Art Gallery. Everyone was taken aback by the stunning paintings hanging in the gallery. The art gallery not only included paintings but also included sketches, drawings, miniatures, etc. The students were able to get a glimpse of the sketch books of the inmates and were astonished to see the beautiful sketches made by them. Students got to know that these artworks are taken out for exhibitions and many prisoners even participate in various competitions. These artworks are also made on orders that they receive. An interesting fact was that the Central Jail participates in the 26th January parade and they have constantly won there as well. An interesting fact about the prison was that it had places of worship of different religions including temples and mosque in its premises. The prison administration had also ensured that the inmates get to pursue different educational degrees through IGNOU. In this regard, the prison officer also informed the students that a good amount of inmates are pursuing the higher secondary and educational degrees actively.

- Kitchen – The students also got the opportunity of visiting the kitchen area where the inmates were seen preparing food for the lunch. The students were informed that at a time for a single meal, around 30,000 to 40,000 chapattis are made by the inmates. The number of chapattis to be consumed by the inmates were fixed i.e. 8 chapattis for the convicts and 6 chapattis for the undertrials. The facilities in the Kitchen were properly maintained, the place was clean and proper care of hygiene was being taken. The food being served to the inmates was nutritious and healthy.
- Auditorium and Orchestra performances therein -The final and the best part of the tour was visiting auditorium. The students were taken to the auditorium where a performance from the inmates awaited them. The students got very excited after being informed that the inmates would sing a few songs and play musical instruments. The performances of the inmates were amazing and beyond the expectation and imagination of the students. The students applauded the performance and thanked the inmates for their sweet and kind gesture. This marked the end of visit and the coordinator of the tour Mr Himanshu Dixit thanked the authorities for allowing students to visit and appreciated the efforts of their team in managing everything.

Jail Tour- Day 3

The third- and fourth-year students, along with Faculty Ridhima Dixit and fifth year students, Mr. Nipunj Niket and Mr. Himanshu Dixit, visited the Central Jail, Bhopal on 30 April 2022. Upon arrival, they were greeted by the Deputy Jailer, Mr. Harish who had very kindly agreed to show them around the jail. At the very entrance of the jail, a list containing the total number of convicts, undertrials Naxalites, death row prisoners, etc. was put up.

Upon entry into the jail, Mr. Harish showed the students Jail Hospital. A very impressive fact about the same was that it was managed by the inmates themselves and there was a comprehensive list of pathological tests which could be conducted in the hospital. Mr. Harish also informed that in order to ensure the mental health of the prisoners, regular visits by the counsellors were also scheduled. In case of inmates who needed advanced healthcare, there was a provision to take them to various speciality hospitals in Bhopal.

Mr. Harish next showed students the solitary confinement cells from outside. He told that the hardened criminals were kept there. These industries included those pertaining to carpet and blanket weaving, offset printing press (which received orders from outside as well), and carpentry. These workshops are managed by the prisoners themselves and they are paid for the work as well. The students also had a chance to see the paintings and sculptures made by the prisoners. Mr. Harish also informed that the paintings were auctioned in exhibitions as well. Mr. Harish also gave the students a tour of the jail library. He informed that the jail had collaboration with IGNOU to facilitate the education of the inmates. Students were also shown the jail kitchen and witnessed the inmates making chapatis quite efficiently.

The students next had a chance to meet the Jail Superintendent. For the same, the students were escorted to the Jail Auditorium where the Anubhav Orchestra, consisting of prisoners put up a captivating performance of patriotic songs for students. Students were also served scrumptious snacks prepared by the prisoners. Mr. Jail Superintendent then opened a question-and-answer session for the students. He informed students that teams of prisoners are fixed for attending to the daily work about the jail. To oversee the entire management of the jail, a team of 15-17 officers is present in the jail. Several questions were asked regarding the holistic well-being of the prisoners. In answer to the same, Mr. Jail Superintendent informed that facilities such as yoga and meditation are made available to the prisoners. Several mental health programmes such as Pyramid Therapy and Gayatri Mantra Therapy are also taken up in the jail. He also informed that some prisoners had also undergone mental health courses by Art of Living and Gayatri Group.

An interesting and pertinent question asked by a student was that in the personal experience of Mr. Jail Superintendent, what social changes had he witnessed over the years, regarding the perception of jails and the general attitude of the prisoners. He informed that the change that he had witnessed in maximum number of prisoners was that they had become more spiritual and inclined towards God. He also told that changes in jails were happening along with changes in society, thought at a slightly slower pace. He said that jail is also part of society and that it was important that social changes in jails are in parity with those in the society outside.

Mr. Jail Superintendent also informed that changes in the parole system of Madhya Pradesh were happening at great strides and that the system was quite liberal. Students were also informed that Madhya Pradesh was also adopting the Open Prison concept quite enthusiastically.

HOW NLIU MAY HELP THE PRISON INMATES AND AUTHORITIES IN REHABILITATION?

Upon being informed that the Hon'ble Vice Chancellor of NLIU, Prof. (Dr.) V. Vijaykumar had shown an interest in doing something for the inmates, Mr. Jail Superintendent suggested that:

- A. The students of NLIU could donate books for the Jail library. He also suggested that these books could contain small-small messages from the students to the inmates.
- B. A major concern that was raised was the rehabilitation of prisoners after their release. The question of effectively integrating them in society was most pertinent in this regard. There was also a consideration of those prisoners who were most susceptible to become repeat offenders post their release. The Jail Superintendent raised a concern that there were many instances wherein after a prisoner was released and later in his vicinity if any offence was committed, the police would most often detain the said prisoner, even though the prisoner was innocent. This often made the released persons commit more offences. Jail Superintendent has invited the legal scholars from NLIU who could work on such sort of projects to provide mental and legal help to such persons. This would facilitate the prevention route and might possibly reduce further offences from taking place. NLIU can play a substantial role in helping the repeat offenders at the very initial stage when they are booked by the police without cogent evidence solely based on their past records. Their voice goes ignored at this stage and their bad reputation is further instilled in the society until the end of the proceedings in the court of law. And making a person go through such an ordeal is against the primary objective of the system. No matter how good the reformative structure is in our country, there are chances of it being rendered futile without help from society at large.

- C. For the legal help, it was suggested to NLIU by jail authorities that proper data be collected of such persons from police stations and jails and a dedicated helpline number for prisoners (especially under-trial prisoners) be generated and made available in all police stations and jails for the legal help to them. For the same, our students informed them about a functioning 10-digit number which could be contacted during a specific period to seek help from the legal aid clinic.
- D. Another aspect relating to this is the settling of the convicts in society after their release. Even though most of the convicts have no difficulty whatsoever in adjusting to the society after their release, there is still a substantial number of people who do not have such a privilege. For this population, some measures must be taken so that these people can make use of the skillset learnt by them in the jail and can learn a living out of it to make their adjustment process smoother in society.

- एनएलआइयू के विद्यार्थी जेल पुस्तकालय के लिए किताबें दान कर सकते हैं। उन्होंने यह भी सुझाव दिया कि इन पुस्तकों में छात्रों द्वारा कैदियों के लिए छोटे-छोटे संदेश भी लिखे जा सकते हैं।
- जेल अधिकारियों ने ला विद्यार्थियों के सामने एक सुझाव रखा कि किस प्रकार ला विद्यार्थियों के कैदियों की रिहाई के बाद उनके पुनर्वास एवं जीवन उत्थान में एक सक्रिय भूमिका अदा कर सकते हैं।
- उन कैदियों को जो अपनी रिहाई के बाद भी किसी अन्य अपराध में बड़े ही आसानी से घसीट लिए जाते हैं सिर्फ इस कारण क्योंकि वे पहले जेल जा चुका है इसलिए संभवतः उसके इर्द-गिर्द घटित होने वाले किसी अन्य अपराध में भी उसकी भी भूमिका हो सकती है।

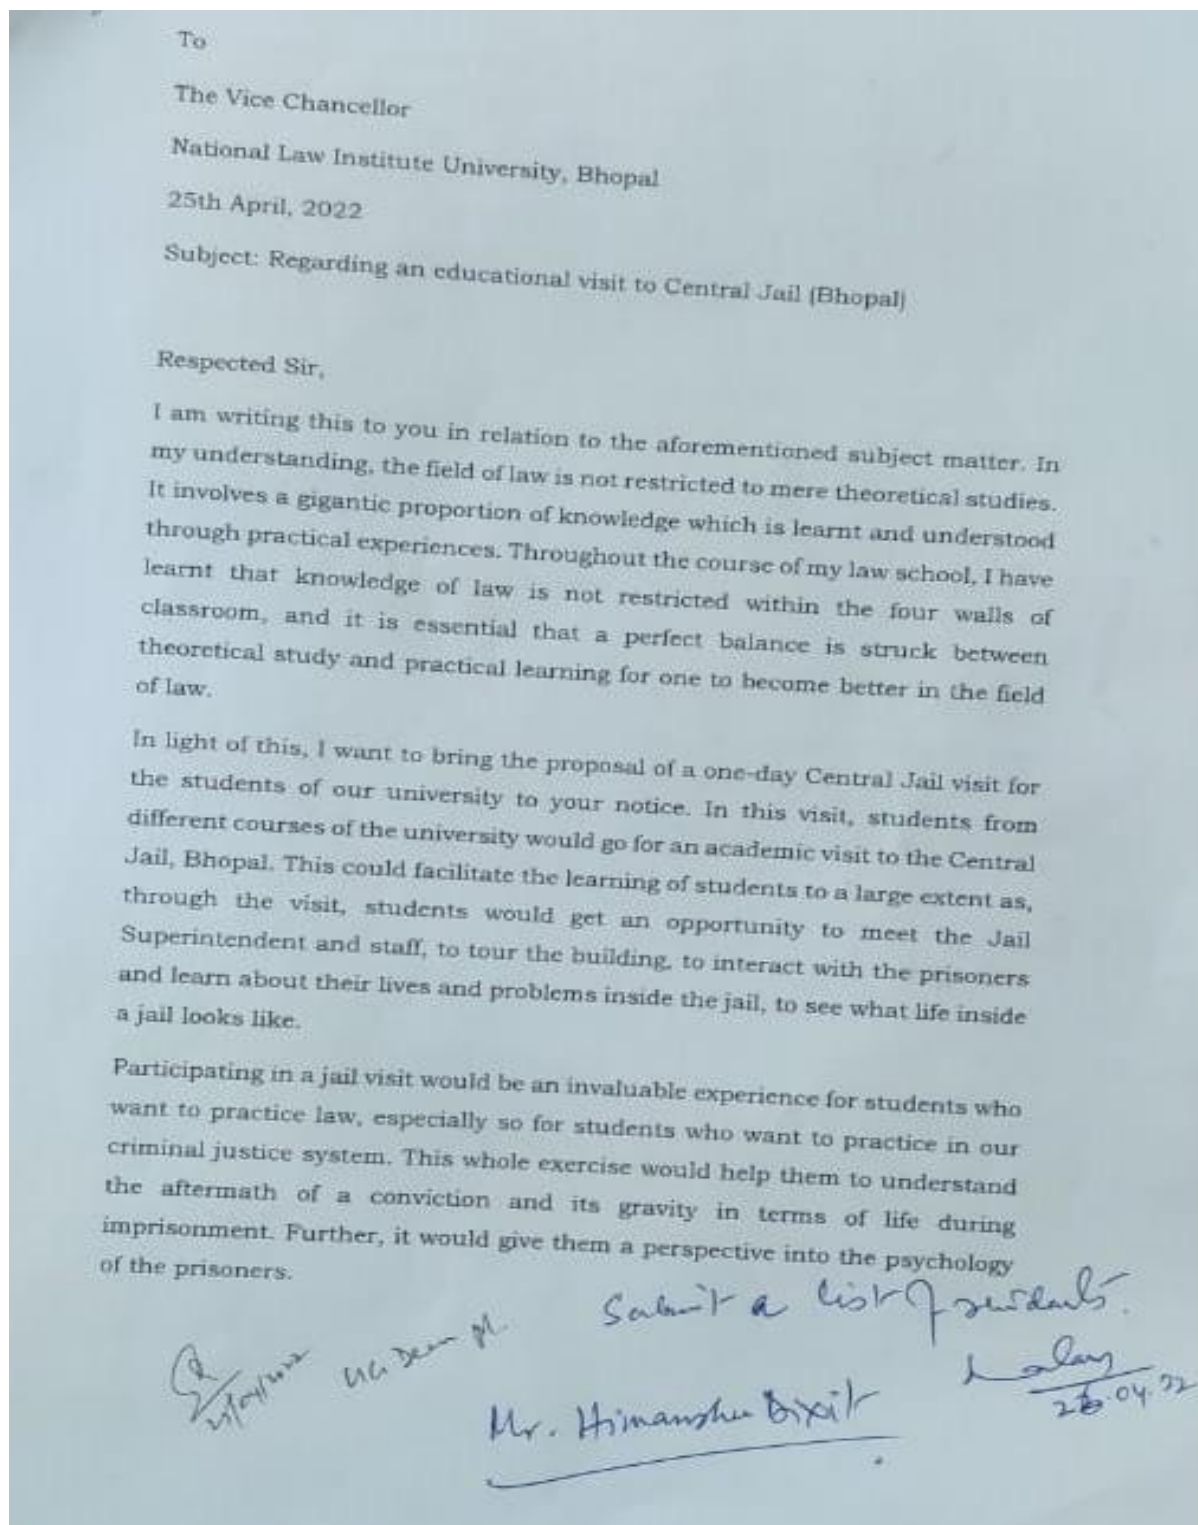

POSTERS OF THE TOUR

ANNEXURE 1

THE LETTER URGING FOR THE CONDUCT OF THE JAIL VISITS

As far as theoretical learning of the law is concerned, an educational jail visit will acquaint the students with the jail manual in a practical manner. Students would be able to understand the difficulties faced by prisoners when it comes to getting legal aid and constraints of the jail authorities to facilitate their visit for the court hearing. Even Justice FI Rebello and Justice KU Chandiwal of Bombay High Court had observed that law schools should provide students with an opportunity to visit jails and also motivate them to take initiative towards legal aid.

Therefore, I propose to you that a one day Central Jail (Bhopal) visit be organized by the university for all the students across the different courses of the university.

Proposed Date - 27th April 2022

Proposed Time - 12 PM - 2 PM

I request you to kindly take this proposal into consideration and let me know about your decision. In anticipation of a positive response from you on this.

Regards,
Himanshu
