IV. NANI A. PALKHIWALA MEMORIAL GOLD MEDAL AWARD

Mr. Nani A. Palkiwala (16.01.1920 to 11.12.2002)

Nani A. Palkhiwala was born in 1920 in Bombay to blue-collar, middle-class Parsi parents. His family name derives from the profession of his forefathers (a common practice among Parsis), who had been manufacturers of palanquins ('palkhis'). He was educated in Masters Tutorial High School and later at St. Xavier's College, both in Bombay. He was a dedicated scholar and excelled even though hampered by a bad stammer. At college, he earned a Masters' degree in English literature and also overcame his speech impediment.

Upon graduating, Palkhiwala applied for a position as Lecturer at Bombay University but could not secure the post. Soon found himself trying to obtain admissions to institutions of higher learning to further his academic career. He enrolled at Government Law College, Bombay, where he discovered that he had a gift for unraveling the intricacies of jurisprudence. Mr. Nani Palkhiwala was called to the Bar in 1944 and served in the chambers of the legendary Sir Jamshedji Behramji Kanga in Bombay. He quickly gained a reputation as an eloquent and articulate Barrister. He was often the Center of attention in court, where students of law and younger members of the Bar Association would flock to watch him. His excellent court craftsmanship and an extraordinary ability to recall barely known facts rendered him an irresistible force. Mr. Nani Palkhiwala's initial forte was commercial and tax law. Together with Jamshedji, he authored what was then and still is today an authoritative work: 'The Law and Practice of Income Tax.' He was thirty years old at the time of first printing. Sir Jamshedji later admitted that the credit for this work belongs exclusively to Mr. Palkhiwala.

Mr. Palkhiwala's first participation in a case of constitutional significance occurred in 1951, where he served as junior counsel in the case Nusserwanji Balsara v State of Bombay [(1951) Bom. 210], assisting the esteemed Sir Noshirwan Engineer in challenging several provisions of the Bombay Prohibition Act. Before the year was out, Palkhiwala was arguing cases himself, but he lost his first case of constitutional importance (a challenge of the validity of Land Requisition Acts) before the Bombay High Court. By 1954, however, barely ten years after his admission to the Bar, Palkhiwala was arguing before the Supreme Court. It was during his first case before the apex court (concerning the interpretation of Article 29 (2) and Article 30 of the Indian Constitution, which regulates the rights of religious minorities) that he first articulated his (later) famous statements on the inviolate nature of the Constitution. As a result, Mr. Palkhiwala received a great deal of recognition from academics, academic institutions and the government.

In 1963, Palkhiwala was offered a seat in the Supreme Court but declined. In 1968, he was offered the position of Attorney-General by Shri Govind Menon, the then Law Minister in the Congress Government. Mr. Palkhiwala recounts in his book 'We the Nation',

'After a great deal of hesitation, I agreed. When I was in Delhi, I conveyed my acceptance to him, and he told me that the announcement would be made the next day. I was happy that the agonizing hours of indecision were over. Sound sleep is one of the blessings I have always enjoyed. That night, I went to bed and looked forward to my usual quota of deep slumber. But suddenly and inexplicably, I became wide awake at three o'clock in the morning with the clear conviction, floating like a hook through my consciousness that my decision was erroneous and that I should reverse it before it was too late. Early in the morning, I profusely apologized to the law minister for changing my mind. In the years immediately following, it was my privilege to argue on behalf of citizens, under the same Congress Government and against the government, the major cases which have shaped and molded [...] constitutional law [...].'

Mr. Nani Palkhiwala was appointed Indian Ambassador to the United States in 1977 by the Janta Government (the first non- Congress Government in India) headed by Late Shri Morarji Desai and served in the capacity till 1979. He received Honorary Doctorates from Princeton University, Rutgers University, Lawrence University, University of Wisconsin-Madison, Annamalai University, Ambedkar Law University, and Mumbai. The laudation from Princeton called him '...Defender of constitutional liberties, champion of human rights...' and stated, 'he has courageously advanced him the conviction that expediency in progress, at the cost of freedom, is no progress at all, but retrogression. Lawyer, teacher, author, and economic developers, he brings to us as Ambassador of India intelligence, good humour, experience, and vision for international understanding...!'

In the last year of his life, Mr. Nani Palkhiwala was severely affected by what may have been Alzheimer's disease. According to Attorney General Soli J. Sorabjee, who had known him for many years, 'it was painful to see that a person so eloquent and articulate unable to speak or recognize persons except occasionally in a momentary flash.' Mr. Nani Palkhiwala was taken critically ill on December 7th, 2002. He died on Wednesday, December 11th, 2002. He was 82 years of age.

The Nani A. Palkhiwala Memorial Trust, Mumbai, instituted the Nani A. Palkhiwala Gold Medal in 2006. This medal is awarded every year to the bonafide topper of the LL.M.program of the National Law Institute University, Bhopal.

His persona was an effortless blend of educational, religious, spiritual, social, cultural, economic and agricultural interests. He was not only an educationist and an eminent lawyer but a social worker too, a combination to be rarely found in a man.

His dedication to the field of education was exemplary. Moreover, he was a man of vision. His idea was to build a college where academics are of unmatched standards, the staff is highly qualified, and students who channel their energies towards education and make efforts on being men of character. The Narmada Mahavidyalaya or NMV hence is renowned for discipline. The ascent of college from its humble state with limited classrooms and an ever-growing number of students to the present state is still remembered by people who have had the privilege to be a part of such an educational system.

He was an eminent lawyer. His powerful oration and incredible intelligence gave him immense fame and credibility. He practised law and appeared before the courts of Hoshangabad and Bhopal. Additionally, he appeared before the High-Courts of Gwalior, Jabalpur and Allahabad and the Supreme Court. He established one of the largest libraries in the area, which included All-India Reporters and other journals. He was the jewel of the Hoshangabad Bar Association. Due to his intellect and incredible knowledge of the subject, he earned a name for himself from district Courts to High Court and the Supreme Court.

Pt. Ramlal Ji Sharma never sought donations as the idea of begging was repugnant to him. He had a constructive mindset and epitomized an ever-active life. Being an eminent lawyer and educationist, he taught in Narmada Mahavidyalaya as early as the 1950s. He also established around 15 educational institutions throughout the district of Hoshangabad, with the sole motive of imparting education to the unreached.

He introduced the discipline of Arts in 1954, Commerce and Science in 1958 on the graduation level in the Narmada Mahavidyalaya. He taught English Literature and Economics classes in 1963, Hindi Literature and Commerce in 1964, Mathematics and Botany in 1969 and 1970 in Economics and Zoology on the Post-graduation level.

An insight into his pursuit of religion stands in the form of Satsang Bhawan on the bank on River Narmada, a place where holy men would stay, and devout persons would assemble to listen to religious discourses. In addition, he had immense faith in Ramayana. Every year when the courts would be off in the summers, he went on a pilgrimage to Badrinath and Kedarnath and spent at least a month in Haridwar.

He was an institution in himself. His life devoted to education and social work remains embedded in the minds of the people who had the honour to be associated with him.
